

CLINICAL CHALLENGES 2027

Problem Solving & Decision Making in Internal Medicine

11•12•13•14•15
JANUARY 2027

LA THUILE · VALLE D'AOSTA

— 3RD EDITION —

Dear Colleagues,

We have reached the third edition of MyLav WIC, the winter event that continues to combine professional development within the veterinary community with a few days to unwind among some of Italy's most beautiful mountains.

This year, we are introducing a slightly different format. We will remain focused on Internal Medicine, but approach it through the clinical challenges you encounter every day in practice. Three days will be dedicated respectively to jaundice, polyuria/polydipsia and fever, with a programme built around clinical contests, interactive arenas and direct discussion between speakers and participants, rather than conventional lectures.

On the day dedicated to PU/PD, I will personally share some thoughts on a topic that is becoming increasingly relevant to all of us: how Artificial Intelligence can already support us in our everyday clinical decision-making.

My hope is that these days in La Thuile will also be an opportunity to enjoy some quality time together: with the MyLav team, with the sponsors whom I would once again like to thank for their valuable contribution, and with the many colleagues we will have the pleasure of meeting again – or meeting for the first time.

I wish you all a wonderful MyLav WIC 2027!
